Math Groups

Math groups are in full swing and the kids are doing a really great job of working in their groups. Each day, one group works with me, while the rest have other math stations (games, iPad, math book, etc.) Ask your child what he/she has been working on.

Reading Challenges

I posted our first “reading challenge” on Seesaw last week. The kids had so much fun seeing photos of each other reading—thank you for sending. I’ll post a different challenge each Wednesday, an informal way to check in about reading at home.

Self-Portraits

If you get a chance, please stop in to see our fabulous self-portraits. The kids did such great job learning about the proportions of a human face, mixing their own paints, and layering all the different parts. Our stunning portraits are paired with “How to Be...” poems the the kids wrote after studying “How to be Teddy Roosevelt.”

Have a wonderful week! -Ms. Boyesen
